As managing partner of The Snook Group and since 2004, George has been perennially recognized as one of the company's most successful performers and specialists in the areas of financial and estate planning. The Snook Group has built a reputation of offering an extraordinary level of dedication and quality to every client they assist in achieving lifelong financial security.

As a Chartered Federal Employee Benefit Consultant (ChFEBC), George has a unique and comprehensive understanding of the benefits federal employees receive throughout their career. Working with nearly 80 different agencies within the federal government, The Snook Group provides financial education and guidance to employees in all aspects of their profession. From new hires to people in their pre-retirement phase, George helps to educate and, if they desire, advise individual federal employees how to reach their financial goals within the federal benefits system.

(Over)

Over his career, George has continuously sought to educate himself and the members of his firm in cutting edge financial planning strategies. In addition to earning the designation of ChFEBC, George is part of industry groups like the Harrisburg Association of Life Underwriters, the Cumberland County Estate Planning Council, and is a member of the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table since 1998, which recognizes successful insurance and financial planners around the country.

While George is not in the office, you will most likely find him donating his time and service to numerous charitable causes both on a local and national level, most notable, he has served on the Board of Directors for the Children's Playroom. He is also the former Chairman of the Board of the National High School Coaches Association from 1998 to 2011, and was the head wrestling coach for Mechanicsburg High School for seven years during that time. He attended Bucknell University after growing up in Lewistown, PA and currently resides in Mechanicsburg with his wife, Kelli and his children.

Helping people build financial peace of mind.
