CA Insurance License #0H75530

While most college students are busy cheering for their school at sporting events, James Thomas was getting licensed to sell insurance and financial products before he even graduated. James has dedicated his entire professional career to helping his clients overcome their financial challenges, while also educating federal employees about the unique benefits they receive from the federal government. He holds the Chartered Federal Employee Benefits Consultant (ChFEBC) designation, and in conjunction with his firm, The Snook Group, provides financial education and guidance to federal employees at nearly 80 government agencies around the country and helps them navigate the path to their financial goals.

James has been a competitive wrestler for nearly longer than he can remember. After meeting financial planner, George Snook at a local wrestling competition while still in high school, James kept in touch with him throughout his college career. During his junior year, Mr. Snook recognized James business potential and brought him on to his staff as an intern. Later in 2006, he was promoted to the lead Account Manager for the firm and began to work closely with The Snook Group's clients to ensure each one is given the same high level of commitment, dedication, and service.

(Over)

In his time with The Snook Group, James has been consistently recognized as one of the company's top young agents and was bestowed the prestigious Rising Leader award only a short time after starting there. He is also a perennial member of Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company's (MassMutual's) Leaders Club, which recognizes their top insurance agents for consistently high levels of achievement. Despite his many successes, James will tell you that he is in this line of work because he truly feels he is helping people and giving back to the community that has supported him throughout life.

James spent much of his life in Mechanicsburg, PA before graduating from high school there and heading off to a local college, Shippensburg University, where he majored in Finance. He has continued his interest in wrestling and coaches the sport at his former high school. When James is not in the office serving his clients, you will most likely find him traveling the United States or volunteering his time with Junior Achievements, teaching second-grade students about business and the hard-work needed to overcome life's challenges.

Helping people build financial peace of mind.
